This seminar explores 21st Century Leadership in the era of AI, rapid change, and diverse generations.

We focus on how leaders must adapt their values, skills, and mindsets to thrive in a world where:

- Psychological safety drives high-performing teams
- Gen Z and Millennials generations redefine motivation
- Feedforward becomes more important than feedback

By the end, you'll discover how to transform challenges into opportunities and take your next leap as a leader.

About the Speaker:

With 24 years of global career experience at UNESCO and Intel, Mr. Itagoshi (Ita) has served as project director in over 15 groups and divisions, including finance, e-business, digital health, business development, technology standards, software/service deployment, and strategic offices. He has been honored with the Intel President's Award twice (top 0.2%) and was selected among the top 0.5% of senior leadership. He is passionate about leadership development, delivering management coaching, workshops (with over 20K participants), and lectures.
